THE COMMONWEALTH.

FRANKFORT.

THOMAS M. GREEN, Editor.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 27, 1858.

We can supply extra copies of the Daily Commonwealth put up in wrappers ready for mailing, at two cents a piece. Orders left at the office or with our Reporters, in the Senate and House of Representatives, will be promptly attended to.

The price of the Daily Commonwealth for the session will be $1.50—and for the Weekly, 75 cents—invariably in advance.

American State Convention.
There will be a meeting of the American State Convention in the Senate chamber this morning at 9 o'clock. All Old Line Whigs who wish to set with this party are invited to attend.

The American Convention.
This body will assemble in the Hall of the House of Representatives, to-day at 12 o'clock. M. The number of delegates already present promises that this Convention will be one of the most intelligent and respectable political assemblies ever convened in Kentucky; and when we remember the cause which they propose to advance, we may say it will be very interesting. Although the American party has been defeated, and is now waiting under the iron despotism and misrule of an unrelenting foe, whose merciless tyranny is characteristic of that party, there are many, very many, in whose hearts lives that great American sentiment, which, although it has been denied, will be the watchword of Americanism so long as it has a votary. "Americans must rule America." Actuated by such impulses, together with a supreme disgust for the present vacillating and reckless demagogical administration, has inspired the American party with a sincere belief that our beloved State, at the August election, will be won to her early love and once more take the proud position which she has, as we believe, but temporarily abandoned. We do not intend to make any appeal to the American party to stand by their colors; we know that there is a firm and fixed determination to stand in a solid phalanx, and fight shoulder to shoulder with the non-commissioned Convention shall be announced. We conscientiously believe that the announcement will strike more terror to the soul of the bogus democracy, than can be compensated for by the short lived tyranny that party has exercised and enjoyed.

But the supreme villain of this matter is, that it is to be done in the name of economy and in deference to the poor. But could all the honest poor men of the State see this matter in its true light, they would hurl every one of the enemies of this law to depths from which no hand of resurrection could ever place them. To be cheated out of the very richest of officers, to be cheated out of that which gives to life its chief glory, and yet to be persuaded that this villainy is a blessing and a benefit, are among the vilest delusions where knowledge has not shed its glorious light. The profoundest and most extensive injuries, with which priests, demagogues and monarchs have cursed mankind, have been to persuade them to be thankful for degradation and thankful for their own ruin—Oswego National American.

The above extract we take from an excellent article in the Oswego National American, and publish it as a specimen of the indignant sentiment which the repeal of the Normal School has excited among the people of the State. There are those who have given their aid to the destruction of this great feature of common school education, who will find awaiting them, on their return, to an indignant and outraged constituency, a reception not only akin to the feelings expressed in the above extract, but a greeting which, even their boasted courage will fail to appal.

From indications exhibited on last evening, the American Convention will be well attended to-day. The Hotels were crowded at an early hour, and all seemed enthusiastic in their hopes of success. The prominent candidates before the Convention, are Messrs. Bartlett, of Covington; Allen, of Greensburg; McKee, of Somerset; McKinney, of Stanford; Herndon, of Mason; Finnell, of Covington; and others, whose names we do not now recall to mind. Some of these gentlemen have not announced themselves as candidates, and we mention them, among others, from the fact, that we have heard their names favorably spoken of by their friends. We take no part in the contest for the nomination, but will cordially support whomever the Convention shall select as the standard-bearer of the party.

Miss LOUISA C. ROSENKIEWICZ—We are requested to announce that this charming lady will be in our city for a few days, and during her sojourn will favor our citizens with two or three concerts. She possesses musical talents of a high order—a voice of remarkable compass and richness; and is destined, with cultivation and practice, to win a name among the distinguished vocalists in the land. We heartily commend this beautiful young lady to the public as a most charming warbler, and trust that she may meet with a cordial greeting to our city.

Wise's Secret.—The power by which the slashing Governor of the Old Dominion gets up such reams, and acres, and miles of letters, has been a puzzle to many illiterate people, but the Fredricksburg Recorder cuts the Gordian knot and solves the difficulty. Governor Wise gets his letters not out of his head, but out of his "little political reportorium." Hear the Recorder.

On the outside of to-day's paper may be found the late effusion from the fertile political reportorium of his Excellency the Governor of Virginia. The positions which he there assumes on questions of principle we leave to the people, to be measured by those known and fixed standards which characterize the Democracy of Virginia. That the opinions expressed by the Governor are utterly at variance with the sentiments of the Virginia Democracy, is abundantly evident from the fact that the Legislature has passed resolutions defining the views of the people of the State on the Kansas difficulties, which conflict directly and essentially from the argument and conclusions of his Excellency.

The N. Y. "Courier" concludes that the President is keeping back "missions," "Consuls," &c., &c., to buy the Lecompton Constitution through Congress, as Pierce bought through the Nebraska bill, regarding the Missouri Compromise line. A northern man, who votes for "Lecompton" ought, indeed, to be very well paid, with a first class mission, at least—as at home he will need all that compensation.

The Corsican Brothers.

The deeply interesting drama thus entitled, is taken from the French of Alexander Dumas, founded upon a tale of Corsican vendetta. Like some of the Italian tribes in this country, the Corsican always revenges the death of a relative when slain by some foe, and the next brother, or nearest of kin, takes his time to kill the slayer, either by fair fight or assassination, as the case may be. The feuds between families have continued for many years, and, in some instances, the males have been nearly exterminated. Only within the last two years a Vendetta of this sort, which had lasted for over sixty years, was brought to an amicable conclusion, and the two families, by a marriage cemented the breach, but only after many difficulties had to be overcome. In the drama above named, we have a Corsican family named Dei Franchi, consisting of twin brothers—Fabien and Louis. The latter goes to Paris, the former remaining with his mother at home. Louis, in endeavoring to protect the honor and reputation of the wife of an absent friend, from the snares and slanders of a fashionable rascal of Paris, (Monsieur DeChateau Rennard) incurs the displeasure of the latter, who, being one of the most expert swordsmen of the day, and having already killed several friends in the duel, presuming upon his skill, challenges Louis, and gives him his death wound, in the forest of Fontainebleau.

By some mysterious sympathy his brother, Fabien, though so far distant, is made acquainted with the whole affair, and starts off immediately for Paris, to avenge his brother's death.

In the third act of the drama, Chateau Rennard, to avoid the enquiries of justice, leaves Paris, but his carriage breaks down near the spot where, five days before, he had fought the duel, in which he had slain Louis Franchi. Whilst expressing to his friend his feelings at the coincidence, Fabien, who had followed him, steps forward, and, from the resemblance to his dead brother, is supposed, by Chateau Rennard, at first, in the excitement of remorse, to be the spectre of his victim. Fabien, however, soon convinces him to the contrary, and that he is his brother, comes to avenge a brother's death! Chateau wishes to avoid the combat; but, it being urged upon him, in desperation he agrees, and, on the very spot where he had, five days before, killed Louis, he is killed by Fabien, after a desperate combat, which, on the stage, has always been the great feature of the denouement. Fabien, cool and collected; Chateau, nervous and excited; form a splendid contrast. The former, certain of destroying his opponent, fights with cool and savage determination; the latter, feeling a presentiment that he must be slain, yet, unflinchingly, meets his foe—to foot, and hand to hand—the death-struggle takes place, but the conscience-stricken duellist cannot, with all his skill, gain an advantage; and, finally, succumbs to the fierce and indomitable will of the avenger.

We have understood that this play will be performed at the Theatre, on the occasion of Mr. STRETTON's benefit, which will come off in a few days. Prof. HAMMESLEY has kindly volunteered his services and will perform one of the principal parts of the play. The Professor, besides being an excellent swordsman and military disciplinarian, has very frequently, in former years, delighted large audiences by his art as an actor, and, on this occasion, may be expected to put forth all his varied powers.

[COMMUNICATED.]

In this morning's Yeoman, Johnson's "good-bye-forever," addressed to "A Democrat of the Old School," like the previous question, cuts off all debate. Be it so, but I beg leave to inform him that I did not study political economy in Webster's Dictionary; and, if, as he says, he knows not for what purpose the names of Jackson, Jefferson, and others, are referred to by me, I believe him. Why any writer should refer to Jackson, Jefferson, and other distinguished Democrats, on the subject of currency, must be a mystery, an incomprehensible mystery. I am sorry I had inadvertently spoke of unknown things, and beg pardon for being so unreasonable as to expect to be understood by Johnson.

In conclusion, I will say, whether what I say will be understood or not, that the reason of my selecting the Commonwealth, as a medium of communication, was, that I knew its editor could comprehend, and had liberality enough to admit, that an old school Democrat might believe that "Americans ought to rule America," without abandoning one single really Democratic principle. A Democrat of the Old School.

Who belongs to the American party, and not to the Locomotive Thugs.
January 25th, 1858.

Hon. L. W. ANDREWS.—We call attention to the following card from this distinguished gentleman. Thousands will regret the conclusion to which he has come, in reference to the canvass for Appellate Clerk. We hazard the opinion that if he had consented to the use of his name, not only his nomination by the American Convention, but his election by the people would have been certain.

SENATE CHAMBER,
FRANKFORT, Jan. 24, 1858.
MR. THOS. M. GREEN,
Editor of the Commonwealth.

I was presented, on Saturday evening last, by my esteemed friend, Col. Jas. McKee, the Senator from Montgomery, with the proceedings of a recent public meeting of the Americans of that county, at which I was nominated as its first choice for the Clerkship of the Court of Appeals. I desire through the medium of your daily paper, to return to my friends of Montgomery, my sincere thanks for this manifestation of continued confidence, and to say to them and to all others, that I cannot under any circumstances, become a candidate before the contemplated Convention, or be the recipient of its nomination.

My fellow-citizens of the 35th Senatorial District have conferred upon me a responsible office, the duties of which I am now endeavoring to discharge, and I cannot abandon that position for any other place.

While I feel compelled to pursue this course, I shall, however, give the necessities of the Convention which convenes to-morrow, my warm and earnest support.

KENTUCKY STOCK.—Ten shares of Northern Bank of Kentucky were sold at 110 in Philadelphia on Wednesday $1,000 Kentucky State sizes brought 101 1/2, at the same time and place. $1,000 of city of Lexington six per cent. bonds sold at 49, interest added, in New York on Tuesday.

"Oh, dear, Mr. Tracy, you just when you say that my baby is the handsomest one you ever saw'd—you must be soot-soaping it!" "Well, yes—right, madam; I thought it needed soap of some kind. Ahem!"

LAZER FROM THE RIO GRANDE AND NORTHERN MEXICO.—By an arrival New Orleans, later advice have been received from the Rio Grande and Northern Mexico. The following remarks we take from the Pieyune:

Resistance in Northern Mexico.—Gov. Vidauri, of Nuevo Leon and Coahuila, has declared for resistance against the recent edict of the capital, and issued a proclamation calling his people to arms in support of the constitution of 1857, which he had generally, with Gov. Garza at their head, had refused to accept to their new order of things, and civil war seemed inevitable. In the meantime Gov. Moreno stood faithful, and the flag of the 30th records the following:

We learn from a private source that a schooner has arrived at Irazos Santiago with troops from Tampico, sent by order of Gen. Moreno. Its commander issued to have sent a dispatch to Gov. Garza at Matamoros, telling him to evacuate that port; he would immediately compel him to do so by the armed forces at his command. We cannot say whether this is true or not, but it came from a gentleman who lives in Matamoros and was believed by him to be true. Troops were being collected at Matamoros and elsewhere large numbers, and unless this party of five men, a bloody civil war in Northern Mexico, as well as Central and Southern Mexico, must ensue.

Very Vest.—E. J. McLane, Esq., Justice of the Peace or Brownsville, had been murdered by a Mexican. It appears that the Mexican and his wife were quarreling, when Mr. McLane happened to pass by their local, and entered, later on, the Mexican turned upon him and stabbed him to the heart. He died instantly.

The enraged and outraged inhabitants of Brownsville assembled, and hung the murderer to a large tree. Mr. McLane is the same gentleman who recently killed a desperado named Robinson in Brownsville, who attacked him in his office while he was waiting a warrant for his arrest. He has lived for many years in the Rio Grande, has had many difficulties, but has always been on the right side, and was a terror to all desperados and evil doers.

The "Irish News," about the last quarter in which we should suppose such an article to appear, breaks ground sharply against a Blt introduced by Mr. Senator Mathews, giving allusion to New York the power to hold real estate. "Insidious," "dangerous," and "destructive," are the adjectives directed by the "News" against the measure. Overlooking a score of other objections just as hard, the 17th of the argument seems to be—that such a Bill would soon introduce here English and Foreign Landlordism.

A class of proprietors, the subjects of a foreign government, hostile to our Democratic institutions, would spring up, and extend the soil of this power, and the influence of which is felt in every portion of the Republic. "Non constat non sequitur" as the Lawyers say.—"Men, who decline to become citizens of the Republic and renounce their allegiance to the monarchical governments of Europe, should not be allowed to own any portion of the soil of this or any other State in the Union. They cannot be otherwise regarded than as an army of occupation, a stronghold of traitors, ready to co-operate with the enemy, on the first opportunity. We should regard with suspicion, aliens who despise that citizenship which the Constitution permits them to obtain, even when they bring capital and commerce along with them; for this very capital would enable them to control our elections, and place their own interests and nominees in offices of trust and emolument."

Know nothing sort of talk all this is the Irish News gone over to Saml. But Saml. wishes foreigners to take a real estate interest in the country, that is, plant their foot within—well as upon the soil. When the Irish club hoppers shake off the dust of Ireland, and rest in peace here, he has an interest in us, and we, in him, beyond that of voting, election day, or the first American demagogue, that jumps upon his back, and rides him like an ass to the ball of wax. We have no objection now that foreigners own, in a good degree, our Government, that they become interested in our soil. Indeed, give them land, and they will soon cease to be the Scipios and whatsoevers of the American Democracy. But Saml. of the "News" argues, that the "News" argument, applies with ten-fold power against allowing aliens to hold our State and Federal Stocks. Far wiser for us that aliens own our lands than own our States.—N. Y. Express.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 25.
The steamer Tennessee has arrived from Vera Cruz with dates to the 24th. The country was in a complete state of anarchy. Nearly all the mail stages, between Vera Cruz and the capital, have been robbed. Nearly every State and town is pronouncing against Comonfort. The city of Mexico is in a state of siege. On the 11th the Toluca brigade which first declared for the Dictator, pronounced against Comonfort. It holds the citadel and barracks of San Augustine and Santa Domingo. Comonfort was relieved admittance to the last named. Comonfort after two thousand troops, the peace with artillery, and arrested Gen. Toluca, whom he afterwards released on parole. A portion of the Toluca brigade favor Toluca for the Presidency, others are in favor of Santa Anna. On the 15th San Augustine was attacked by Comonfort's troops. The foreigners repulsed them and hoisted the flags of their respective countries. Confusion reigns at the capital.

St. Louis, Jan. 25.
A gentleman who left Leavenworth on the 24th arrived this evening and reports having traveled from Weston to Bonville, and thence to the bearing dispatches from Calhoun to the members of the Cabinet at Washington, the tenor of which, as derived from the messenger, is, that Calhoun expected the returns sent to Denver instead of him. On that ground, according to the Lecompton schedule, they are illegal, and therefore void. This gives the State offices to the Democrats, also one majority in the Council and one in the House.

Mr. Stover, a Democratic member of the Legislature, was shot in the stage between Wyandotte and Lawrence, and will probably die. Henderson is still in custody at Lawrence.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.
Such treasury notes as are floating about Wall street are selling at 1 1/2 per cent. discount. The Shoe and Leather Bank has applied for one hundred thousand of them. The weekly bank statement shows an increase of loans $1,639,000; increase of specie, $618,000; increase of deposits, $808,000; increase of undrawn deposits, $180,000; decrease of circulation $139,000.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.
The Times has advice from Salt Lake to the 10th of December. The Mormons are not committing on open fight but guerrilla warfare. The crops are abundant. Every able bodied man has to be under arms by spring. A majority of the men are in favor of war and they are said to have plenty of spies in the army.

St. Louis, Jan. 25.
Late advices state that an act has passed the lower branch of the Legislature abolishing slavery in the territory after the first of March. Serious disturbances have occurred between the settlers in the Shawnee reservations and the Indians, resulting in the latter driving off all settlers and burning their houses and crops.

Gov. Richardson arrived at Omaha, Nebraska, on the 10th. In reply to a message from a majority of the Legislature now at Florence, he presses his disapprobation at their recent adjournment to that place, and requests that an immediate return be made to Omaha.

Teacher—William, can you tell me why the sun rises in the east? Pupul, looking dejected—"Dun now, sir, 'cept it be that 'east makes everything rise." The teacher faints.
